

FAUTEUIL SUPERDELUXE The super deluxe armchair derives its name from its comfort and luxurious look and feel. Despite the clever construction method used, this chair is difficult to produce, and so quite expensive. Both the seat and back are folded out of a single sheet of metal. The bends and ribs are created by folding and seaming. The chair rocks like a rocking chair on a suspended hinge point. All in all, it features a chain of unique details. We have a white leather stainless steel version and a black version with fabric. I call the black one the Mad Max armchair after one of the last films that I bothered to watch and that (unlike most other films) I actually found inspiring. To me the black one symbolises evil and the white one good. It looks a bit futuristic with all those angles. The rigid lines of the armchair form a sharp contrast to the person sitting in it, producing a particularly compelling image.
