

BAG CHAIR The quality of the design can best be seen in the version made using old army fabric we first used on the enormous upholstered beam benches. The bag chairs stand out because of the cool fabric. It soon became apparent that the fabric could not be cut on the CNC machine, which ultimately meant that this bag chair, made from inexpensive army fabric, was more expensive than a bag chair made from chic velvet.

art nr	4315
year	2015
size	100 x 78 x 69 cm
material	army fabric

LONG BAG CHAIR

art nr	4317
year	2016
size	177 x 78 x 69 cm
material	army fabric

BAG CHAIR upholstered in velours / ECCO leather

art nr	4318 velours   4316 ECCO leather
year	2016
size	177 x 78 x 69 cm
material	velours   leather

BAG POUFFE

art nr	4319
year	2016
size	70 x 80 x 30 cm
material	army fabric

BAG CHAIR WITH FABRIC OF CHRISTIE VAN DER HAAK

Our first collaboration with Christie goes a long way back. Our current collaboration is characterized by strong-mindedness on both ends, and trying to keep up with her is hard work. My job is to think of ways to display Christie's (not to be confused with the auction house!) textile designs, which have an otherworldly element to them. The first time Christie contacted me, she asked me to design a piece of furniture to be upholstered in the fabric she was designing for the Textile Museum in Tilburg; I think it was Menno Doornbos who introduced us. This time, however, it was the other way around. We still had a piece of fabric lying around from one of the couches we upholstered for Christie. We were making beanbag chairs at the time, one of which was upholstered with a tapestry, and I thought: why not use Christie's fabric for one of those beanbags? I sent her an email to see if she was OK with it, and she was. The beanbag turned out quite spectacular. Its design is relatively simple, which makes it a great medium for Christie's rich fabrics. We made a beanbag, a lounge pillow and an ottoman upholstered in the fabric Christie designed especially for this purpose.

LONG BAG CHAIR - CHRISTIE VAN DER HAAK

art nr	4315
year	2017
size	160 x 100 x 67 cm
material	Christie van der Haak fabric

BAG CHAIR - CHRISTIE VAN DER HAAK

art nr	4315
year	2017
size	100 x 80 x 67 cm
material	Christie van der Haak fabric

BAG POUFFE - CHRISTIE VAN DER HAAK

art nr	4315
year	2017
size	70 x 80 x 30 cm
material	Christie van der Haak fabric

